

PPG – Cleveland

The PPG Cleveland plant includes a pedestrian pathway that runs from the north to the south end of the plant. Employees recognized one area on this pathway had increased risk for interactions between fork trucks and pedestrians. The facility installed a stationary motion sensor and alarm system that would detect fork truck traffic approaching the pedestrian pathway. This system provides audio and visual alarms to pedestrians traveling on the pathway when a fork truck is in motion nearby.